Nevada A-Test Leaves Huge Mushroom Cloud

5th Blast Snaps Las Vegas Glass

Explosion Said Largest Yet

LAS VEGAS, Feb. 6—A terrific atomic explosion—Fifth and largest in the series of atomic test blasts—lit up the skies in four states today and rocked Las Vegas with earthquake-like force.

The blinding white flash lit up the entire Southern Nevada sky at 8:47 a. m. (EST) and was seen in California, Utah and Arizona. It was followed by the thunder-like rumble that rattled glass and bounced dishes throughout Las Vegas.

Two large plate glass windows were blown out in a downtown Las Vegas automobile agency showroom.

Sheriff deputies said they had reports of doors being knocked ajar and screens knocked loose from their hinges by the force of the blast.

The white light—described by observers as "twice as bright" as any of the preceding four tests—turned to a dull yellow in the sky and lasted for a full five seconds.

THEN A HUGE mushroom cloud floated majestically up from the atomic testing range. At first it looked like the huge head of a horse and then the cloud spread out like a giant parachute, clearly visible over the Sheep Mountains.

The cloud turned a peculiar pink as it was lit up by the rising sun.

Thousands of Las Vegas lined roads and rooftops to await this morning's spectacle.

At the lush Flamingo hotel, gamblers ducked under tables as the terrific concussion hit the hotel about seven minutes after the blast and shook chandeliers and furnishings like an earthquake.

Observers estimated that the blast was "twice as powerful" as the previous blast, which had been the largest of the four preceding today's explosion.

(Julian Hartt, staff writer for the Los Angeles Examiner, reported last night from Las Vegas that the test blasts now un-

Meat Control Orders Readied, DiSalle Promises

TOLEDO, Feb. 6—Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle said last night he is preparing to issue two meat control orders which will enable the government to keep track of supplies from the slaughterhouse to the butcher's counter. And he promised "backshot" for black market operators.

In his first speech as the nation's price chief, the former mayor of Toledo said new controls will include an order licensing slaughterhouses and regulating their output and a later directive to "keep meat supplies moving through legitimate channels of distribution."

DiSalle's aids explained the first order will distribute the supply of livestock only to licensed, established slaughterhouses and make it difficult for unlicensed, fly-by-night slaughterers to obtain animals for black market operations.

The second directive may require both wholesale and retail meat dealers to make regular reports—a move to eliminate illegal distributors and "dummy" middlemen. DiSalle explained:

"If supplies move out of regular, legitimate channels into the black market, we can know about it quickly. Our enforcement officers can move promptly against black marketeers."

IT'S UP TO THE WOMEN

More Public Interest In Offices Urged Here

"Somebody around this town has got to take more interest in public affairs and if the men are afraid to stick their necks out then it's up to the women," according to George Crites, Circleville city council member.

With the filing date for city offices only about 24 hours away and many offices still without a candidate, Crites expressed concern when asked about filing for public office.

Several weeks ago in a statement before a Circleville Kiwanis Club, Crites stated that "more young men and more women are needed in city government."

Lausche Bill Asks Hike In Horse Racing Taxes

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6—Governor Lausche's bill to raise nearly $1 million a year more in horse racing taxes is to be given a second reading in the house of representatives today.

The measure, introduced last night by Rep. Ray White (D-Holmes), would give the state half the "breakage" which now is retained in its entirety by the tracks, and would increase the tax on a sliding formula.

The split on the "breakage"—the odd cents up to ten after the odds are figured—would give the state about $192,661, based on 1950's betting. The increased levy on the total wagered would have returned $673,160, based on last year's figures, for a total increase of approximately $865,000.

The split on the "breakage" would be only on amounts in excess of $2,000 a year. This would exclude all the 34 county fair harness racing ovals last year, since in no instance did the breakage at a county fair go over the $2,000 figure.

The state's share of the total bet would be increased from $280 to $300 on the first $10,000; from $600 to $1,400 on the next $40,000;

From $1,000 to $2,000 on the next $50,000; from $1,125 to $2,125 on the next $50,000; from $1,250 to $2,250 on the next $50,000, and from $6,000 to $10,000 on the next $200,000.

The track's permissive "take" of the total bet would be increased from ten to 12½ percent. On the 2½ percent increase the formula would divert two percent to the state while the remaining one-half percent would remain with the track.

Meanwhile, the house highways committee accepted for consideration a sweepingly amended auto license extender to make the 1951 plates good also in 1952 and possibly in 1953.

The bill, drafted by a Republican subcommittee, represents a compromise between the stands taken by Democrat Governor Lausche and the Republican measure passed by the senate.

Lausche wanted to use only one plate this year; a sticker with that plate next year; re-issue the second, re-painted plate in 1953, and then issue a second sticker to make the 1953 plate good in 1954.

The senate junked Lausche's plan and passed a bill to use both plates this year, and then issue stickers to make them good also in 1952, '53 and even '54, despite testimony that the plates probably wouldn't last more than two years.

The compromise proposal would use both plates this year, issue a sticker for next year, and then leave it up to registrar of motor vehicles whether to issue a new sticker, one new plate, or two new plates for 1953. No mention is made of 1954; presumably that will be left for the 1953 legislature to decide.

ANYANG LEFT BEHIND BY ALLIED UNITS

UN Forces Ram To Within 25 Miles Of Parallel; Entire Front Gains

TOKYO, Feb. 6—United Nations troops rammed within 25 miles of Korea's 38th Parallel today in a five-mile northward push up the east flank of an offensive that knocked out more thousands of resisting Red soldiers.

On the west wing of the crushing drive along a 65-mile front, tank-powered American armored columns drove into and through Anyang, seven miles south of Seoul, for a second time in two days.

They pulled back at dusk Tuesday for the usual overnight stand after engaging in battles north and west of Anyang with reinforced Chinese units using self-propelled artillery, anti-tank guns and other weapons.

As the enemy's manpower losses neared 60,000 for the 13 days since the UN offensive began, front-line intelligence officers said two American armored task forces killed or wounded 1,500 Reds at and near Anyang Tuesday. These included some 800 dead.

A late dispatch from the blazing west sector said the day's UN casualties were "light by comparison" with the Chinese losses which included many additional hundreds mowed down by Allied artillery and aircraft.

Thousands of Chinese troops in the hills overlooking Seoul from the south faced possible entrapment within the jaws of Allied pincers punching north along the west and central sectors. In the latter area, Allied troops threatened an important road stretching northeast to pivotal Chunchon from Seoul.

UN forces, smashing into the North Korean Fifth Corps on the mountainous inland section of the offensive, reached a point 45 miles northeast of Seoul in a threat to outflank and envelop the Chinese defending the Red-occupied capital.

International News Service War Correspondent Lee Ferrero reported from South Korea's central sector at 10:31 Tuesday night that this was the northernmost penetration of the 13-day-old Allied drive.

His field dispatch said South Korean troops, backed by American tanks, artillery and planes, were pacing the northward assault beyond the mid-Korean hub of Hoengsong, and were meeting "stiffening" Communist resistance.

The triple pronged UN drive up the Hoengsong-Hongchun road and along both sides of the artery sent one vanguard toward the vital communications center of Chunchon to within 25 miles of Parallel 38, Ferrero reported. The parallel forms the artificial boundary between South and North Korea.

UN spearheads thus threatened to cut the rail-highway life line leading down through Chunchon to Seoul from the northeast.

The Allied push, aided by the Korean war's biggest artillery and tank barrages as well as air blows and Navy shellfire, was officially described as an effort to destroy the Red invasion forces, the enemy was estimated to have suffered some 57,000 casualties since the drive began 13 days ago.

Along the west flank of the quaking front, three powerful American tank-led columns renewed their northward advance at dawn Tuesday and the central column, known as "Task Force Dolvin," smashed again into Anyang. That gateway junction is seven miles south of Seoul.

Resumption of this advance into and around both sides of Anyang was reported by INS War Correspondent Frank Conniff at 7 p. m. Tuesday in a dispatch delayed by field censorship for nine hours.

Conniff quoted UN artillery officers as estimating that the Eighth Army's field guns along inflicted 13,911 Communist casualties. (Continued on Page Two)

DODGERS HIDE IN RESERVE?

18-Year-Old Draft Idea Fades; Guard Probe Set

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—House Armed Services Committee members declared today that the military has failed to sell its case for drafting 18-year-olds and the committee ordered a probe into the holding of draft-eligible men in the National Guard and Reserves.

Rep. Kilday, (D) Tex., opened fire on the Defense Department request for lowering the 19 through 25 age draft limit during questioning of Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, The Texan declared:

"Very frankly, I could not vote for a draft of 18-year-olds. The evidence brought here does not convince me that we must take 18-year-olds to give us three and one-half million men in the armed forces."

Rep. Rivers, (D) S. C., declared it is "scandalous" the way men eligible for the draft are being "improperly screened" out by the high mental test set by the military. He added:

"I AM NOT SOLD by the proposition that the Defense Department has played honestly by the people of this country—that they have been screened properly."

The demand for an investigation came from Rep. Towse, (R) N. J., who charged that "men are being taken by different services and put into the Reserves to keep them out of the draft."

Chairman Vinson, (D) Ga.,

said the Defense Department will be asked to furnish:

1. The number of men in the National Guard and Reserve that are subject to the draft under the current 19 through 25 age limit.
2. Information on whether it is department policy to enlist men who are subject to the draft.
3. How many of these men

Soviet Nations Boycott Lie As UN Secretary

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 6—The Soviet bloc instituted a new kind of boycott against UN today by refusing to recognize Secretary General Trygve Lie.

Peiping's foreign minister, Chou En-lai, sent communications to UN denouncing the assembly's action in branding Red China an aggressor in Korea, but he addressed each conspicuously to "The Office Of The Secretariat."

A top UN source disclosed at the same time that since yesterday, all letters received from the Soviet bloc have been "very pointedly" addressed to "The Office Of The Secretariat."

One Western spokesman said: "It is obviously more than" (Continued on Page Two)

GOP Honors Lincoln, Eyes White House, Hits Dems

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—Congressional Republicans, honoring Lincoln and eyeing the White House, put their 1952 campaign emphasis today on shaping a foreign policy to "avoid World War III."

This was the major theme sounded by GOP speakers who launched the annual series of Lincoln Day celebrations at a heavily attended box supper rally in Washington.

Sponsors of the rally announced that more than 12,000 persons attended and that 9,500 of them bought the $1 chicken box supper.

Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio, who won the outstanding ovation at last year's capital celebration of Lincoln's birthday, shared the honors in volume of applause last night.

But there were hundreds of "Taft For President" banners in evidence, distributed by Rep. Bender, (R) Ohio, a veteran backer of Taft's presidential hopes.

Taft joined other GOP leaders in accusing the Truman administration of bringing America to the brink of war with its foreign policy.

Sen. Duff, (R) Pa., in his first major statement since entering the Senate, criticized the Truman administration for failing to give the people a "clear definition" of the country's foreign policy.

Duff said: "Gigantic blunders of foreign policy have brought us to the brink of the disaster we now face. This is the result of what happened at Teheran, at Yalta, from the demobilization of our armed forces before peace was secured, and from making commitments in far off places of the world without keeping our armed force equal to those commitments."

Duff added that "The Democrats got us into this confusion. Let's give the Republicans a chance to get us out."

Sen. Bridges, (R) N. H., charged that the administration issued its price control order too late and then put one out "full of loopholes and exceptions." He denounced "wild-eyed federal spending" and said the "first and foremost control needed in America today is control of the Truman administration."

And Chief American Horse, a Sioux Indian of Kyle, S. D., said "we Indians want a Republican administration."

Mobilizer's Talk Seen Turning Tide

Negotiators Say Some Progress Made

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—Striking railroad workers were returning to their jobs today and a union spokesman reported "pretty good progress" in negotiations to end the dispute.

Heartened by the response to Defense Mobilizer Charles Wilson's appeal to the strikers, the National Mediation Board resumed talks in an effort to end the economy-crippling controversy.

The first report of progress in negotiations came after a six-hour mediation conference ended early this morning. The mediation board renewed its discussions about noon.

Meanwhile, the government took action to break the log-jam of military shipments and mail which was created by the eight-day walkout.

Defense Transport Administrator James K. Knutson ordered the nation's freight-hauling trucks to give priority to shipments for the military, Atomic Energy Commission and Postoffice Department.

KNUTSON'S ORDER requires every motor carrier engaged in the transportation "in over-the-road" service to give preference and priority over all regular commercial shipments.

The order said that trucks are not prohibited from accepting regular commercial shipments as long as they move the "priority" freight first.

The back-to-work movement appeared well underway. The rail crossroads of Chicago remained tied up, but a small number of strikers in that key transportation center "promised" to show up yet today.

Workers who had reported "sick" were returning to work in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Cincinnati, Detroit, Logansport, Ind., Atlanta, Birmingham, Dallas and Los Angeles.

Even as the rail switchmen went back to work on the eighth day of their walkout, there were new shutdowns in industry and industrial layoff exceeded 300,000.

Railroad spokesmen warned that "it may take three or four weeks to get service completely back to normal" even if all the strikers return to work immediately.

The movement started after Defense Mobilizer Wilson appealed to the strikers to return to work to resume the strike halted flow of tanks, guns and other supplies to U.S. forces in Korea. He said further delay in shipments would cost the lives of American soldiers.

WILSON'S APPEAL was augmented by one made by W. P. Kennedy, president of the Trainmen's Union, to which the striking switchmen belong, who said the back-to-work movement was "very encouraging."

Kennedy declared: "I asked the men to go back to work and a lot of them are" (Continued on Page Two)

PIQUA, Feb. 6—Burglary charges are to be filed today against three Dayton men captured through efforts of a fast-thinking Piqua telephone operator.

The men broke into the Piqua Milling Company yesterday and one of the men knocked over a telephone. The unidentified but alert operator simply plugged the open line directly into police headquarters and let officers listen to the pounding on the company safe. The arrest followed.

All Southern Nevada had been braced for today's shock ever since the AEC warned Sunday that an explosion—believe to be the last in the current series—could be expected "in the near future."

RESIDENTS HEADED the AEC's admonition not to stand near windows or glass doors "at the appropriate time" to avoid the danger of being hurt by falling glass.

In Los Angeles, the glare from the atomic blast was clearly visible through a light fog, lighting up the northeastern sky like a giant airplane flare.

Just preceding the atomic explosion, the Civil Aeronautics Authority had advised pilots that air traffic within a 150-mile radius of Las Vegas had been restricted. Pilots were advised to contact the nearest CAA center for "safe routing instructions."

In Paris, the newspaper Le Monde said today that radioactive clouds from the atomic explosion in Nevada reportedly have been carried as far east as Russia.

The newspaper said if this is so, Soviet physicists would have been able to obtain information regarding the American nuclear explosion. It added:

"It seems that if Russian observers have received artificial atoms from Nevada they would be able to conclude primarily that projectiles fired on the new American shooting range are not simply a bluff."

Lockbourne Set For 3,200 New Air Recruits

Lockbourne Airforce base is ready to receive some 3,200 recruits for basic training in the next three or four weeks.

Some 82 men already have been assigned to the 4662nd Training Group, commanded by Major George Gilmore, and the remainder are expected to pour in, primarily from overcrowded Lackland Airforce base in Texas.

Major Gilmore reported the base will offer military training, physical conditioning and limited technical training—the basic course for recently inducted men.

Lockbourne already houses two radar units, the 166th Fighter Squadron and the 166th Weather Station—the Air National Guard units called to active duty last week.

Woman Burned By Flames In Home Mishap

An East Mound street housewife suffered a badly burned left arm last Monday while attempting to kindle a fire with gasoline.

She was Mrs. Charles Tomlinson, 601 East Mound street, who suffered first and second degree burns on her left arm and side in the mishap.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise said his firemen were called to the home at about 4:35 p. m., but that neighbors had already entered the home and had beaten out flames on the woman's clothing.

Mrs. Tomlinson, alone in the home with an infant, reportedly attempted to build a fire in the stove by using gasoline, which she believed to be kerosene.

She was rushed to the office of Dr. Ned Griner by private auto, treated and returned to her home.

A couch and several rugs in the Tomlinson home were damaged by the fire.

responding to my personal request."

Wilson spoke last night for President Truman. In a dramatic radio and television broadcast, he told the strikers:

"You have no right to stop your country's defense efforts. I know you don't realize it—but the fact is that you are doing now can very soon hurt the United States more every day than all the Communist armies in Korea put together."

The defense mobilizer said that the strike, which has cut rail movement an estimated 90 percent, filled the railyards with idle cars and caused unemployment in basic industries, is paralyzing the U.S. during "the greatest danger in our history."

Wilson asked the strikers "to accept your responsibility as Americans to our fighting men in Korea, to your fellow countrymen. I ask you to report for work on your next shift. Don't put it off. Settle this with your own conscience."

FURTHER DELAY in shipments, Wilson said, could cost the lives of American soldiers fighting in Korea.

Behind Wilson's appeal to the patriotism of the strikers was a threat that their further defiance would bring congressional action to draft them into the Army. A bill for that purpose was introduced in the House by Rep. Andrews, (D) Ala., who termed the strike "unpatriotic" and "nauseating."

Nearly 38,000 Visit Logan Elm During 1950

The scene of Chief Logan's eloquent explanation of his personal war against the white man was visited by 37,990 persons last year.

That was the official estimated attendance at Logan Elm Park, five miles south of Circleville, according to Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society.

The society said that Tarlton Cross mound was visited by 26,010 persons in 1950.

Total attendance at Ohio's memorials was 1,876,766. Recorded attendance at the Ohio State museum in Columbus was 97,014 and the 54 state memorials, 1,779,752.

Ranking high among state memorials is Fort Ancient with 190,002, Schoenbrunn with 147,238, Newark Earthworks with 150,699 and George Rogers Clark Memorial with 245,304.

Attendance at the Ohio State Museum shows slightly over 4,000 increase over 1949 and the state memorials a reduction of 25,596. According to Erwin C. Zepp, director, this is probably due to severe weather conditions the latter part of the year plus construction work in several areas.

Soviet Nations Boycott Lie As UN Secretary

coincidence that from the far ends of the Iron Curtain lands—from Peiping to Moscow through the Balkan satellites—the name of Trygve Lie as UN secretary general is suddenly forgotten and UN becomes merely a post-office address at Lake Success.

The new boycott results from Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky's bitter opposition last November to the extension of Lie's term as secretary general for another three years. The U. S. led the fight for keeping Lie, drawing fire from the Soviet bloc that the Norwegian diplomat had become an American puppet.

Lie merely said he is accustomed "to being ignored or called either a Communist puppet or stooge of the West."

have been called by the department for active service.

This prompted Rep. Brooks, (D) La., to warn against stripping the Guard or Reserves or of putting members in "double jeopardy" for active service. But Rep. Short, (R) Mo., asserted:

allies since the Allied offensive toward Seoul began Jan. 25.

Of these, an estimated 6,074 were killed and the others wounded under thousands of tons of shells poured into the invaders' ranks. Through the night up until dawn Tuesday, every UN gun and mortar along the west sector participated in the mightiest barrage yet unleashed in the war.

The Eighth Army's ground forces alone were credited officially with killing or wounding 8,008 Red soldiers in Monday's fighting.

Waves of planes added their bombs, rockets and strafing fire to the destructive pounding that rocked the battle areas day and night.

6 Ordinances To Be Talked By City Solons

Circleville city council will have at least six ordinances to consider when it meets Tuesday night.

Three of the bills will deal with salaries of city employees, including raises for local police and firemen.

A fourth concerns the leasing of a panel truck for fire department at $1 a year from a local auto dealer, while a fifth calls for an appropriation to purchase firefighting equipment. Sixth bill sets up rules for traffic at city intersections where four-way stop signs are erected.

City Hall observers believe the city fathers may enter into some discussion of new ways to raise municipal revenue.

Two revenue-raising methods have been advanced so far by councilmen. They are a tax on gross sales and a city income tax.

According to George Crites, chairman of council finance committee, "one or the other will have to be put into effect" to keep Circleville operating at its present level.

City Solicitor George Gerhardt said Tuesday, however, that he will not be prepared to answer council's questions concerning the legality of either form of taxation at this meeting.

Draft Office Is Bailed Out

Pickaway County draft office Monday was "bailed" out of a problem brought on by melting snow and ice.

The melting white stuff on the roof of Pickaway Courthouse was finding its way into the Selective Service office on the second floor. Temporary solution was provided by putting a bucket under the steady drip.

But prospective draftees can relax. Board officials said no records have been washed away.

61 Attend Youth Conference Held In Circleville

The Rev. John B. Taylor, dean of west division of Chillicothe District of the Methodist church, directed the mid-year institute for the senior Youth Fellowship Sunday in Circleville First Methodist church.

There were 61 young people from Kingston, Mt. Sterling, Ashville, Hedges Chapel, Chillicothe, Atlanta and Circleville registered for the six two-hour courses.

The study courses and those teaching the classes were, "Great Christian Teachings" by Dr. George Wilson of Lancaster, district superintendent of the Chillicothe district; "Counselor's Class" by the Rev. G. C. Reid of Mt. Sterling; "Techniques for Officers" taught by the Rev. Bingham; "Why Be a Protestant", teacher, the Rev. J. H. Sudlow of Williamsport; "Christian Decision" directed by Rubie Plant, director of religious education at Lancaster First Methodist church; and "Recreation" by the Rev. Robert Weaver of Circleville.

Following the study courses, a covered dish dinner was served in the dining room of the church with Mrs. Berman Wertm, Mrs. Walter Heine and Mrs. Roloff Welford in charge of preparations.

The Rev. Taylor presided at the final assembly and awarded credits to the young students.

The session was concluded with an address by the Rev. Cecil Fogle of Greenfield on the subject, "Going Forward—the Duty and Obligation of Young People."

14 New Beds Bought For Jail

Guests invited to stay overnight or longer in Pickaway County jail in the future will find things a little more "comfy."

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said seven new double-deck steel beds have arrived for the jail, 14 new beds in all to take care of the visitors who receive the county's hospitality.

The new beds, costing $17.50 each or a total of about $123, replace older models which have been used in the county lockup for 25 years.

TV-Radio Programs

Programs listed in the following television log contain errors daily, the fault resting entirely with broadcasters and not with The Herald. Intent of this newspaper is to provide accurate information for subscribers, but finds this impossible so far as the three Columbus television stations are concerned. The programs printed are assembled from information sent out by the Columbus stations and are not to be regarded seriously. Complaints about inaccuracies in program listings should be made to the broadcasting stations and not to The Herald. Because of continuing inaccuracies, The Herald has been forced to delete all TV programs prior to 6 p. m. Radio programs are evening network listings.

BUNDLED and tucked in a basket, this little Korean waif forgets war's terrors for the moment as he enjoys a serving of bread and jam specially prepared for him by GIs in the Chongju area. (International) urday night, the boy and his five-year-old brother rifled the firm's petty cash drawer and took $16.

The younger boy, tracked down through the snow, readily admitted the burglary.

The older boy "wouldn't talk" until police promised to call in the FBI. He said he would talk to FBI men. Later, he led them to his hideout where he had hidden his loot—candy, cigarettes, candles and keys.

POPULATION TROUBLE

A STUDY of the poor economic situation in Spain discloses that the nation's population has leaped more than 5,000,000 in the past 20 years, causing serious shortages in food, housing and other necessities. This population gain was too much for a country as penurious as Spain to absorb. Agricultural production is declining and industrial development is insufficient to compensate for it.

The first obvious remedy would seem to be emigration. Spain developed a large part of the Western Hemisphere. Its language and traditions prevail in Latin America. Spaniards would be welcomed in many countries there and they could improve their economic status. Why Spaniards and other Europeans prefer to wallow in economic misery in their traditional homelands when newer and richer countries are open to them is a mystery.

Of course, emigration is merely an easing of the basic trouble. European overpopulation would be reduced for a time, as it was by emigration in the past, but ultimately the same population pressure would be felt. With two-thirds of the world's population chronically undernourished, present rates of population growth present a challenge.

WHY RUSSIA HESITATES

THERE IS a wide difference of opinion in official circles concerning Russia's readiness for war. Some say the Russians are not ready to put the match to another world conflagration. Others declare this must come soon, lest the free world becomes too strong, or revolution at home upsets the red regime.

Failure of the Chinese communists to win the war in Korea would call for a decision by Moscow. Russia would have the alternatives of moving or admitting a serious setback for communism.

But if the United States and Europe are as helpless militarily as some observers profess to believe, what is Russia waiting for. Recent events in the Nevada desert have pointed to the reason for the Kremlin's hesitation—atomic weapons. It is believed this nation is now prepared to wage an atomic war which would undoubtedly bring defeat to Russia.

It is predicted the new OPA will require 1,600 lawyers, so a layman should expect to remain befuddled.

Many pine for the good old days when, if you had a dollar, you didn't have to give it to the politicians.

These Days

General Dwight D. Eisenhower is possessed of so charming and convincing a personality that President Truman could have selected no one more able to sell his war program, or who could have done it more effectively.

Furthermore, it takes considerable courage to question General Eisenhower's judgment on a military question in view of his expertness and authority in this particular field. While it is possible to wonder whether the President quite understands the problems of war, it is not possible to have the same doubts about General Eisenhower.

Again, while General George Marshall has been involved in startling errors, proved by time to have been errors of knowledge as well as judgment, General Eisenhower has not become so involved. He has had no part in the Asiatic confusion and bears no responsibility for Teheran or Yalta.

This places him in an extraordinary position to influence public opinion, and his responsibilities are the greater because his acceptance is so universal.

Therefore, an analysis of his speeches, press interviews and the reports of his meetings with congressional committees must take on this objective approach: That with keen desire to accept what General Eisenhower has said as gospel truth, it is still essential, under our system of government, to scrutinize, analyze, and debate his suggestions with the view toward discovering, as far as possible, the exact state of our own security.

1. It is clear that General Eisenhower adds nothing to nor does he modify the terms, purposes and arrangements of the Brussels conference. Therefore, his speeches could have been made before his trip to Europe, or without any trip at all. His was a confirmatory inspection.

2. He holds that the President should be in a position to send ground troops, of whatever quantity, anywhere without restriction.

3. While this is the equipment-providing stage, no restrictions are to be placed upon the man-giving stage.

4. Spain, Yugoslavia, Turkey and Formosa are not included in his program. His remarks concerning Germany are remote and inconclusive.

He said:

"I am not even going to mention my several conversations in Germany, and for a very specific reason. I personally think that there has to be a political platform achieved, an understanding that will contemplate an eventual and earned equality on the part of that nation, before we should start to talk about including units of Germans in any kind of army."

In a word, France's program regarding Germany is to be accepted by the United States, although that means that more manpower will have to be provided either by France or the United States.

5. While, in a plea for patience, he refers to France's commitments in Indo-China and Great Britain's in Malaya, General Eisenhower makes no comment on our own enormous commitments in Korea. Why are we more concerned with other countries' commitments than with our own?

CHAPTER NINETEEN

"OH—WELL, Mrs. Coldfield did suggest an adjustment," said Gamadge, taking the chair. Ames pushed toward him. Ira slowly sank down on the one he had risen from when Gamadge came in, and Ames settled himself beside the fire. Mrs. Ira got a cigarette out of a gold box and nervously held it for her husband to light. She said, "I don't know what you mean—adjustment. Surely she hasn't the nerve to expect damages, or something?"

Susan said, "Oh, Mother," and held her head away.

"Don't let such words sully the air," begged Ames, laughing, but Gamadge wasn't laughing. He said, "She's quite safe now, of course, and with friends who can protect her physically; but she'd like an assurance that insanity won't be at any time in the future be imputed to her."

"We deserve that," said Susan.

"But why on earth," said Miss Beal, pettishly, "should there be any question of such a thing now, since she's come to her senses?"

"Or at least we hope so," grumbled Ira. "We hope there'll be no relapse."

"Oh stuff and nonsense," said Ames. "Sylvia was in a wrought-up state, that's all. And in any case, she's out of our hands." He smiled at Gamadge. "Don't say thanks to you! Really we're not so formidable." He glanced up at a side door which evidently led into the back hall. "Yes? Who's that? Come in, come in. Oh, Miss Beal."

"She isn't wanted now," said Ira hurriedly.

But Miss Beal had come in and stood planted, her short, thick, muscular figure encased in its nursing whites, a sweater over her shoulders. She fixed alert eyes on Gamadge.

"This is Sylvia's nurse, Mr. Gamadge," said Ames, rising to smile at her. "Doctor Smyth's representative, since he couldn't come himself."

Ira said with some annoyance, "It's not necessary. Mrs. Glendon has withdrawn her statements. Miss Beal. Apparently she's responsible again. That's all."

Miss Beal, looking squarely at Gamadge, said sharply, "It isn't all. I want you to know I never thought she was crazy, and I never knew what statements she'd made. These people wouldn't believe it, but she didn't talk. I say she never would have talked. But it wasn't my business—I was paid to take care of her and keep her from annoying people writing letters and on the telephone, and a nurse does what the doctor says. If she don't, she's blacklisted with the agencies and the hospitals."

Ames said sweetly, "This comes a little late, Miss Beal, but we're delighted to hear it. And no blame attaches to you, I'm sure, in this gentleman's mind. But I must remind you that your patient"—he Everything happens in California. In a local golf tournament there two summers ago, for instance, a finalist had to win the thirty-six hole to tie up his match. Sinking a long putt would do it for him.

The golfer's aim was true, but unfortunately, the ball stopped on the very edge of the cup. The audience sighed with disappointment, and the loser started to cross the green to congratulate his opponent, when a tremor shook the earth. Dishes and window panes in the club house rattled—and the golfer's ball plumped into the cup! There being nothing in the rule book covering earthquakes, our hero was credited with the hole and went on to win the championship on the thirty-seventh!

gas tank would become an economic problem?

There was a time here we were so prosperous you'd see a fellow light a cigar with a dollar bill and then throw away the cigar. Yesterday we saw a fellow light a dollar bill with a cigar and throw away the bill.

General Eisenhower doesn't seem to think we can "pick up the world on our economic and financial shoulders" and you can be sure there was no coaching from our native knuckleheads on that quiz question.

Billowing budgets and untenable tax bills sure aren't fluffing up our shoulder pads any, but you've got to admit that trying to save the world on 58-cent dollars is quite a trick.

Pearl Bailey

NEW YORK—I was talking the other day of the peace and quiet, the haven to be found in the famous Cloisters museum on the northern tip of the Manhattan. Let me think that this is the only place in New York where one can relax, let me speak this afternoon of another.

This reference is to the dressing room of Miss Pearl Bailey, backstage at the Mark Hellinger theater on Broadway, where nightly and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons Miss Bailey holds forth as the undisputed star of a musical comedy called Bless You All.

At this point in my career of musical appreciation, Miss Bailey is my favorite woman singer. My tastes are somewhat limited and do not encompass what some of my cultured friends call the virtues of Lily Pons.

I like women who get up and sing and make you feel what they are singing. The early Billie Holiday was such a one; then there are Ella Fitzgerald, Peggy Lee, Lee Wiley and one or two others. Pearl rules the roost.

Pearl has in her repertoire a fine song called Tired, and when I dropped into her dressing room at the Hellinger, I began to understand the deep feeling she gets into it when she gets up and waves her hands and sings it. A magazine photographer was taking a series of pictures of her, and she was lying back on a sofa, with a couple of chorus boys looking at a hooked rug she was making. "Sit down, honey," she said to me. "I'd get up, but I'm tired."

A phonograph was playing some Art Tatum piano music and I began talking to Pearl while she slumped back happily on the sofa and took pictures of the photographer with a little camera of her own.

A girl friend came in in a little while and started talking about looking at kitchenets and so on and I said to Pearl, "You looking for an apartment?" She sighed.

"Well, not an apartment necessarily," she said, in that wonderful mellow voice. "I jes' want a couple bedrooms where I can go lay down and get me some sleep."

THE GREAT PEARL, WHOSE BROTHER BILL was once a top tap-dancer and now is a minister (taking time out from the clergy to do Bill Robinson's life story in the movies), came out of Newport News, Va., and knocked around in vaudeville for a while before she hit New York in 1939, for the first time. "What happened then?" I asked. She chuckled.

"Nuthin'," she said simply. "I wanted to get somewhere, but nobody was having anything. So I went back to the sticks."

It was the early Forties before she got her big break; she went into the Blue Angel, New York's best supper-club showcase for new talent, for a two-week run. She stayed eight months as a member of what may have been the best show the Angel ever had; Evelyn Knight, the Bernard brothers and Eddie Mayehoff, the comic sensation of this year's Gibbs play Season in the Sun, made up the bill.

Right now, Pearl is back at the Blue Angel, doubling over there after her work at the Hellinger is done. When I asked her if it was tough, she said no, but it would be after a couple of weeks. "I'm gonna run short on sleep," she said sadly.

Our whole conversation was punctuated by visitors sticking their heads into the dressing room, boy actors coming in, dressers wandering around and Pearl chewing meditatively on a ham sandwich—leaving the bread.

Ruth Jung, the wardrobe mistress, appeared briefly and told me Pearl was a sweetheart; "She just throws me a dress, smiles and says 'Please see that it's clean, will ya, honey?'" and that's all.

BECAUSE PEARL IS NO DOPE, her dressing table had a stack of books on it, including Budd Schulberg's The Harder They Fall and Carl Sandburg's poems, and she told me she thought The Egyptian was the best novel she'd read lately.

It seems that when Pearl is home—she lives at a midtown hotel now while in the process of getting a divorce—she has no itch to "go out."

"I jes' like to eat and sleep," she said, "and then get up maybe and eat a little more. I read a lot and once in a while I get out to a show—but I tell you, I can't see that fresh air. I don't like that air now."

She is a handsome woman and if she felt like it, she could be the hit of cafe society here. But she also is an intelligent woman and she is candid, and those traits have no place in cafe society.

Pearl jes' likes to stay at home and loaf. After an hour of helping her do it in her dressing room, she sold me on the idea completely.

Witty Counseling Given Housewives On The Proper Care Of Their Husbands

Survey Taken Among Brides

Felicia Lampport, New York author of the book, "Mink on Weekdays," manages to be both witty and sound on the subject of pre-marriage counseling.

Miss Lampport reported this week she had conducted an informal poll of a number of "seasoned" intelligent wives, asking each of them what piece of advice she treasured most from her term as a bride.

They came up with a variety of answers, all "tested" under some conditions and found excellent.

These range from such constructive suggestions as:

- 1—Make your desserts in the morning.
- 2—Comb your hair and wash your face before breakfast.
- 3—Be generous with your time and money—not his.

They also had such stern taboos as:

- 1—Never touch your husband's razor or tidy his desk.
- 2—Never go to sleep on a quarrel.

Miss Lampport adds sagely to let sleeping husbands lie.

Men should like this bit of advice which was given to brides: The first time your baby and your husband call you at the same time, go to your husband, assuming the infant is "not hanging over a cliff at the moment."

Among other taboos are:

1. Don't try to change your husband.
2. Don't compete with your husband.
3. Don't be annoyed if your husband urges you to make delicious pies like those his mother used to make. Chances are you're pressing him equally hard to make a lucious income like the one your father used to make.

"It's a pity," writes Miss Lampport, "that there can't be a preliminary trial marriage between the groom's mother and the bride's father."

"Above all," as one seasoned wife urges, "remember that marriage is fun. If it weren't, it wouldn't be so popular."

"There is a widespread notion that marriage is more popular with women than with men," says Miss Lampport, "but statistics disprove this." She added with a devilish twinkle that "there is no year on record during which more women were married than men."

Mrs. Thomas Hosts Party

Mrs. Oakley Thomas entertained with a party in her home in Circleville Route 4 celebrating the birthday anniversary of her niece, Mary Louise Chapman.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Danner, Mr. and Mrs. Denman Thomas and daughter Shirley of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Thomas and son Don of South Bloomingville, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carpenter, and daughter Susan, Mr. and Mrs. William Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Thomas, Mrs. Charles Caudill and sons David and Bobbie, and Mrs. William Clark all of Circleville.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

From the Collection of 24 of the World's Greatest Cookbooks SPONSORED BY THIS NEWSPAPER

Every reader of The Circleville Herald can now increase the scope of her pie-baking talent with the many suggestions in the fifth book of the Culinary Arts Institute series of 24 Cookbooks which are being presented weekly to our readers.

This book, called "250 Superb Pies and Pastries," follows the release of those storehouses of information, the Snack Book, Leftovers, the Cake Book and the Poultry Book, all of which are still available along with this latest release.

The Pie book has all the run-of-the-mill recipes that you might want to check with your present piebaking methods and it also has a host of new ideas to delight your imagination and your palate. There are quite a number of variations of the good old favorite, apple pie. If you are among the fortunate who do not worry about what it will do to your silhouette, why not try the following tasty suggestion.

DAINTY APPLE PIE

- 3 cups sliced tart apples
  - 2½ cups grapefruit juice
  - 1 Graham Cracker Pie Shell
  - ½ cup sugar
  - 3 tablespoons cornstarch
  - 1 recipe Whipped Cream Topping
  - 8 maraschino cherries, chopped
- Cook apples in grapefruit juice until tender. Arrange apples in pie shell. Mix sugar and corn-

Today's Woman Goes

For Her Home, Her Family and Herself

FRILLS and furbelows found little favor among the persons who made up the original 13 colonies—they were sturdy, practical folk so that is why Fostoria named the beautiful, simple yet practical pattern, COLONY. With this there is no limit to being practical. Early colonial charm and simplicity have been captured in the swirling contours of this delightful pattern. You'll love its radiant beauty for friendly entertaining and its sturdy durability for family meals. It is really inexpensive so you'll be able to afford a complete service. All stemware is just 75c. Small accessory pieces are much lower. L. M. BUTCH CO., JEWELERS.

TIME FOR early morning marketing and making donuts too—all in one morning. Sounds difficult but it is not with the new Popeil's DONUT MAKER. This handy gadget eliminates rolling, cutting and forming donuts by hand. The plastic cup holds enough dough for 24 donuts and drops them into the hot shortening in just the right size every time. Here's how you can make French donuts in nothing flat—melt 1/2 cup of butter in a cup of boiling water—bring to a boil. Drop in a cup of sifted flour and beat vigorously over direct heat until mixture becomes very thick and leaves sides of pan. Remove from fire and add 4 eggs, one at a time, beating hard after each addition. Beat until glaze disappears. Fill cup and when shortening is heated to 365 temperature hold cup over fat and press plunger and then release quickly—that's all—nothing to it—HARPSTER & YOST.

HEALTHY, happy youngsters make laundry work heavy during these winter months. If you are in need of a CLOTHES HAMPER we suggest that you drop into MASON FURNITURE and inspect the new line of Pearlwick hampers that have just been received. Cleanliness is next to Godliness, they say and keeping the home free from clutter makes clothes hampers necessary. These hampers are exceptionally well made and come in beautiful shades of rose, green, blue and yellow with plastic lids and trim. In two sizes at $7.95 and $8.95.

Painting AND DECORATING

IF YOU are painting this Spring you will want to use ONCE OVER PAINT made by Johnston, Circleville's fastest selling paint. GRIFFITH FLOORCOVERING is agent for this wonderful paint that has made history during the past few years. It is not a water paint but an oil base paint—covers most surfaces in one coat. All ready to use, no thinning, no mudding, dries in one hour. Covers wallpaper, calcimine, new or old plaster, wood, metal, brick and is washable like any oil paint. Over 100 smart colors to choose from. The most economical paint on the market today.

JUST AS THE old topper and the umbrella remind us of the steadfastness of our Great Emancipator—Abraham Lincoln—so does CONCRETE BLOCKS remind one of permanence and durability. No matter what you are building this Spring, give a thought to using Concrete Blocks. For a house, business block, barn or other farm building you can build it more economically and better with concrete blocks—too there is the matter of availability and last but not least the matter of safety must be considered. For proven durability you only have to glance around you. Yes, friends if you are thinking of building contact BASIC CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS for an estimate on the cost of using economical Concrete Blocks.

WARD'S UPHOLSTERY guarantees all remodeling jobs to be successful and that the owner of an old piece of furniture will be more than pleased with it after they have worked on it. Their workmen are experts in their line and only the best of materials are used. Too, their line of upholstery materials is complete—you will be enabled to select from many different kind and you may be certain that your choice will blend with the decor in your rooms.

HE SAYS NO QUITTING

Happy Chandler Is Happy But Baseball Boys Irked

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—The refusal of the club owners to renew Happy Chandler's contract as commissioner of baseball apparently has split baseball itself wide open.

There have been few stories in recent years comparable to this one for conflicting views which find their way into print.

Over the weekend, while baseball festivities in New York were going along full blast at the baseball writers' dinner, one journal had Happy fired and supplanted by a three-man commission. Another had him back in office, and another had him out and succeeded by any one of a number of persons.

However, the happy man from Kentucky has one gimmick going for him.

HIS CONTRACT SAYS he can be deposed as commissioner only if he fails to carry out his duties to the best of his ability.

As a lawyer, he points out that he is carrying out his duties to the best of his ability and he defies anybody to say that he isn't.

As a result of this, he plans to stay in office until the last moment of his contract, expiring in May, 1952, and if anybody can find anything to do about that he will be happy and eager to see him.

He is determined not to be bought off. This apparently surprised the club owners. He also is determined to continue to run baseball with all the powers vested in him. This has frightened some of them.

Some of them resent his investigations of club owners, but his reply to that is that anybody connected with baseball is subject to scrutiny under a magnifying glass.

He does not feel that his job is simply to investigate the players themselves. He has offended a couple of owners by digging into their past.

They are among his bitterest enemies. Some of what he investigated did or could have a direct bearing on their relations with baseball. He was doing his job as he saw it.

THIS WAS NOTHING more nor less than Chandler's predecessor, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, did.

The old judge kept Bing Crosby from the Boston Braves when Lou Perini got them, because Crosby had connections with a race track. Crosby has since got out of that and now is part owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Chandler's attitude seems to be that the owners want him to operate the game in such a way that he handles only the players and lets the owners alone.

He refuses to abide by any such stipulation with the result that a minority is shooting at him.

It takes only a minority to fire him, in that he must have 12 of 16 votes to stay in, but he seems to be convinced that he can swing it.

He is being fired right and left by newspapers, to which he has no reply.

He says that his contract stipulates only that he do his job to the best of his ability and he is standing on that.

Tigers To Have One Last Fling At League Toga

Circleville's Tiger cage combine will travel to Greenfield Friday night in a final effort to pull out on top in this year's South Central Ohio League chase.

Greenfield, by virtue of Circleville's loss last Friday at Washington C. H., holds the league lead to date with four wins in five starts.

Circleville, on the other hand, is tied with Washington for second place in the league at present with four wins in six starts.

A win Friday over the league-leading Greenfield McClain clan would put the Tigers into a three-way tie for the title with only one game left to play.

If Circleville should beat the McClain it would face Hillsboro's Indian aggregation on the Hillsboro court in the finale.

TWO WINS now by the Tigers in the league will give them at least a two-way tie for the title, since Washington and Greenfield still must meet. The other two league teams are far below the leaders in standings.

In addition to shooting for a league foothold in the Friday match, the Tigers also will be seeking to notch their seventh win in 16 starts for the season.

With four games remaining on the schedule, all on the road, Circleville would have to win them all to emerge with better than a 50-50 record for the year.

Circleville's reserve team will seek its fifth league win in seven starts Friday when it meets the McClain reserve aggregation.

The Tiger subs also will be seeking to better their record in the match, looking for their seventh win in 13 starts to date.

Reserve tilt is slated to begin at about 7 p. m., Friday, followed by the varsity clash at about 8:30 p. m.

Junior Tourney To Be Resumed This Wednesday

Pickaway County's junior high school basketball tournament is expected to resume operations Wednesday night in Jackson Township school.

John McPherson, manager of the junior tourney, said the coaches have agreed to the Wednesday session of the contest.

County junior teams, idled more than a week because of snow and ice, are slated to play the semifinals of the junior fracas Saturday, possibly followed by the finals on the next Saturday.

Schedule of games in the quarterfinals of the tourney when it begins again Wednesday will be South Bloomfield vs. Darby, 6 p. m.; Jackson vs. Pickaway, 7 p. m.; Jackson vs. Scioto, 8 p. m.; and New Holland vs. Williamsport, 9 p. m.

Officials for the matches are to be Carleton Rayl, Bob Whetstone, Bill Howard and Owen Sheetz.

Segura Tagged Top Net Pro

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—Pancho Segura has been rated the number one professional tennis player in the nation.

Segura, who won the pro world championship in Cleveland last Summer, was selected for the honor by the Professional Lawn Tennis Association.

The Ecuadorian, touring with the Bobby Riggs troupe, was picked over his traveling partner, Jack Kramer, who was chosen second.

Coaches Form National Unit

CHICAGO, Feb. 6—Formation of a National High School Football Coaches Association with offices in Chicago was announced last night.

Vern L. Morrison of the Minnesota High School Coaches Association was elected president.

The coaches said purpose of the association was four-fold (1) to coordinate work of existing groups; (2) provide special services for its members; (3) assure proper representation for the small high school as well as the large; (4) act militantly for the best interests of the coaches and their schools.

Deers Register 67-53 Win Over Scioto Quintet

Williamsport Deers tallied a comfortable 67-53 victory over invading Scioto Buffalo cagers Monday night during homecoming festivities in Williamsport's Sulphur Springs Pavilion.

Scioto staged a continuous running battle with the Deer defenders during the first three periods of the game, however.

Williamsport opened the fracas with a narrow 13-10 lead in the first period, while Scioto held its own to limit the Deers to a 28-25 halftime margin.

Scioto lost two points to the leading Deer cagers in the third frame to fall to the short end of a 43-38 count before the Williamsport scoring machinery went into high gear in the final stanza.

CLARENCE HASTINGS was the big gun for the victors in the match with a total of 28 points. Jim Shoaf and Zedec Holt tied for honors for Scioto with a dozen points each.

Williamsport reservists netted a 29-22 victory over Scioto's subs in the preliminary match.

Nancy Timberlake reigned as queen during the festivities, attended by Imogene Hastings, Shirley Dunlap, Bette Clark and Jeanne Rose. Escorts were Clarence Hastings, Jack Mills, Cliff Bowser, Cooke Metzger and Ralph Coleman.

Summary of scoring in the varsity game is as follows, with player's name, number of field goals, free throws and total points listed in that order:

SCIOTO — Adkins 4-1-9; Greene 2-1-5; Shoaf 4-4-12; Haughn 2-0-4; Baker 4-2-10; Holt 6-0-12; Martin 0-1-1. Totals 22-9-53.

WILLIAMSPORT — Cl. Hastings 12-4-28; Timberlake 8-2-18; Speakman 0-1-1; Coleman 5-5-15; C. Metzger 0-0-0; Keller 2-1-5. Totals 27-13-67.

Williamsport 13 28 45 67
Scioto 10 25 38 53
Referees—Jurison and Stout.

Olympic Junket Short Of Cash

CHICAGO, Feb. 6—The U. S. Olympic Association must raise $75,000 in five days or substantially trim the proposed 125-athlete delegation to the Pan-American Games Feb. 25-March 8 in Buenos Aires.

J. Lyman Bingham, association executive director, said yesterday cash pledges have passed the halfway mark for the team's $150,000 budget. Final plans for the junket are to be settled in New York Saturday by the association's executive board.

ner, Jack Kramer, who was chosen second.

League Contest Cancelled; May Foul Drawings

Asheville and Saltcreek have cancelled their Pickaway County Basketball League contest slated for this week.

Superintendent Walter Harris of Asheville said both schools agreed mutually to cancel the contest, originally carded to be played at Saltcreek.

The contest was to have been the final league test for Saltcreek, which ended its season with a record of one win in nine league starts with the cancellation.

Asheville, which has two other games this week, may possibly end the season with not more than six wins in nine starts.

How the cancellation will affect the county tournament due to begin Monday appears to be the question.

AT PRESENT, Asheville is fourth-ranking in the loop. The four top teams in the league at the end of the season will be awarded "seeded" posts in the tourney.

With an incomplete season, Asheville may stand to lose out of the "seeded" berth to Jackson if it should lose its Tuesday game to Monroe and if Jackson should win.

Drawings for the 1951 county tourney are to be made Thursday in Darby Township school, although some difficulty may be encountered since the league will not be ended officially until three games have been played Friday.

Quarterfinals Due In Tourney

Quarterfinals round of a 16-team semipro cage tourney will be held Tuesday in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

First round of the local invitational tourney was completed Monday with a 66-47 win by Circleville Basics cagers, host team in the tourney.

Results of the final half of the first round were: Chillicothe Lunch 68, Dublin 49; Chillicothe Oilers 55, Weaver Insurance 44; Lancaster Deeds 64, Chillicothe Hardware 39; and Circleville Basics 67, Chillicothe Basics 47.

Neil Johnston, former Ohio State university courtman, won scoring honors during Monday's round with a total of 31 points for his Chillicothe Lunch team.

Schedule of games for the quarterfinals of the tourney Tuesday is as follows:

Deeds vs. Oilers, 7 p. m.
Newark vs. Jackson, 8 p. m.
Lunches vs. Basics, 9 p. m.
Mt. Sterling vs. Top Hat, 10 p. m.

Buck Football Panel Meeting For Reviews

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6—The committee to select a new Ohio State football coach meets today in the second session to review findings gathered from candidates already interviewed.

The screening committee pulled a swifty when it held the first of such unscheduled sessions yesterday, presumably in order to have a selection ready for a meeting next Monday of university trustees, who do the actual hiring.

University of Cincinnati Coach Sid Gillman is expected to be the last candidate to appear before the board when he comes up for a meeting Saturday afternoon.

Ohio State Publicity Director Bill Wilcox threw this ray of light on the review session:

"The screening committee met yesterday and reviewed information obtained in recent interviews with men considered for the post Wesley Fesler vacated in December."

Meanwhile, Fesler and his assistant coaches, Lyl Clark and Dick Fisher, started by auto for their new jobs in Minneapolis with the University of Minnesota.

Their first jobs are to find living quarters and to lay plans for Minnesota's Spring football training.

Wilcox left some doubt that a new Ohio State coach will be named Monday when he said the screening committee reserves the right to postpone nominating a man for the post.

Gabby Street Dies At Age 68

JOPLIN, Mo., Feb. 6—Charles E. (Gabby) Street, baseball old-timer who caught Walter Johnson, died early today in St. John's hospital in Joplin.

Street, who managed the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1930s, was stricken Jan. 31 with pneumonia. His illness was complicated by a heart condition. He was 68.

Farm Labor Lack Actually May Become Serious Threat

Specialists Give Views On Situation

Shortage Causes Are Outlined

Pickaway County farm operators this week were pondering a serious threat—far more acute than the same problem which faced them during World War II. It is the labor shortage.

State and national labor specialists believe the American farmer, despite all the mechanical aids at his fingertips, may have a rough row to hoe.

The "most serious farm labor shortage that Ohio agriculture has ever experienced" has been predicted for 1951 by officials of the Ohio Farm Labor Advisory Board of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Luke Beckman, new president of the organization, and Walter Scheid, outgoing president, joined in expressing the opinion. The organization is composed of more than 20 key agricultural growers and canners in Ohio.

BECKMAN SAID the labor shortage will be caused by two major reasons:

"First, a 10 percent increase in agricultural production which is expected, mainly in tomatoes, beets, apples and potatoes. This will require a 20 percent increase in labor.

"On the other hand, inroads of the draft and expansion in industry, mainly defense industry, will be siphoning off manpower currently available."

The board agreed to work for passing of legislation by Congress to enable the importation of foreign agricultural laborers.

Beckman emphasized, however, that the board first wanted the entire local labor supply exhausted.

Manpower has been the riddle in the farm outlook in recent months. Reports from Washington since the beginning of the Korean affair have been surprisingly optimistic. Last Summer government officials repeatedly assured the public: "There is no food shortage. There won't be." The farmer quite logically took this news to mean he need not increase production much above his current level.

Now a different note is sounded. Farmers hear such groups as the Senate Agriculture Committee asserting that the impact of preparedness on the country's agriculture will be worse than it was in World War II.

THERE IS ANOTHER bit of news that has made the problem of farm labor even more deceptive, observers say. Farmers are told that the country will not have nearly so large an armed force as it did in the last war. Estimates are it will number about five million compared to 12 million before.

Taken by itself, this speaks very encouraging prospects for agriculture, as, indeed, it does for all industries. There would seem to be a margin of seven million men gained this time over what was available during World War II.

However, America's planned program of foreign aid will be much bigger than lend-lease ever was.

Not only will foreign aid in the '50s be staggering, but Americans are apparently going to try to keep the civilian economy going at a higher level, also.

The net effect may be to make the strain on agriculture as great even though a lesser number of men go to the armed services this time.

One observer presents the case this way: America is now a country of large food factories. The days of the self-sufficient farms are gone. The wide use of com-

It's Do Or Die For Housewives In Both England And In Kansas

OLNEY, England, Feb. 6—It's do or die for king and empire today as the good housewives of Olney, frying pans in hand, toe the line for the start of their international pancake race with the women of Liberal, Kansas.

At the sound of the tolling of church bells, the ladies will race down a 415-yard course tossing their flapjacks into the air and catching them in the skillet—unless of course a high wind interferes.

And for the second time in the 505-year-old history of the competition, housewives of Liberal, Kansas, will be racing over an identical course in the hopes of bringing the coveted silver frying pan prize to America's Midwest.

The whole race against time is a case of skill and skillet as the fleet-limbed ladies toss pancakes from their frying pans into the air and catch them at the start, middle and end of the race.

LAST YEAR'S WINNER, Miss Florence Callow, edged out her American challenger by eight seconds. The feat—carefully recorded by newsreel cameramen and newspapers—resulted in a flood of proposals for the comely winner. So many, in fact, that her fiancé rushed her to the altar a few weeks after the victory.

This year the residents of Olney are pinning their hopes of winning on a twinkling-toes 18-year-old—dark-haired, good-looking Nancy Clark who has shown her heels to all other contestants in the trial runs.

But the real secret of winning, if truth must out, is not only fleet feet, but a special pancake recipe. Says Mrs. Emily Looms, plex machinery has made it so workers with real skills and semiskills are needed to produce on our farms.

What will happen when these workers are drawn off into the munitions factories, as large numbers inevitably will be? Also, how will farming compete with the higher wages paid in "war industries"? Those workers who have the choice are going to be hard to hold on the farm. Briefly:

The picture is not encouraging.

another favored English contestant:

"We have the ideal recipe for the pancakes. They must be nice and thick, otherwise with a bit of a wind, they will float in the air and cause delay."

The times of the English racers will be compared with their American rivals after the two widely-separated events are run off and the winner will then be announced.

The Olney race starts at the village pump and ends at the church with a "kiss of peace" from the church verger for the winner. Verger, in case you didn't know, is what the English call the church janitor.

AND BACK IN KANSAS, the townspeople of Liberal have built a replica of the Olney pump which will be specially primed for the event with water flown from Olney.

Pancake racing began in Olney more than 500 years ago and marked the last day before Lent—Shrove's Tuesday. The pancakes—called shriving cakes—were prepared according to a special recipe at the tolling of a bell. Then the housewives went to church to be "shriven" or absolved of their sins.

Fortney Herd Tops County In Milk Testing

James Fortney of Orient Route 1 has a herd of 13 Holsteins which topped the Pickaway County January Dairy Herd Improvement testing program.

Fortney's herd averaged 37 pounds of butterfat and 1091 pounds of milk for the month.

The 12 cow herd of Don Schleich, Williamsport Route 1, was second with 36 pounds of butterfat and 931 pounds of milk, and Walter Rase, Circleville Route 4, has a 21-cow herd which ranked third with an average production of 35 pounds of butterfat and 931 pounds of milk.

Rase owned the high producing DHIA cow for the month. He had a registered Holstein which produced 1880 pounds of milk and 75 pounds of butterfat. Fortney had a cow which produced 1950 pounds of milk and 68 pounds of butterfat.

The Tax Commission reveals that some 800,000 taxable parcels of real estate in the city's five boroughs have been boosted in officially estimated value by $458,008,639 over the figures for 1950.

The high Owner Sampler herd for January was the nine-cow herd of Lawrence Martindale, Circleville Route 3, which produced 44 pounds of butterfat and 1122 pounds of milk. Second high was the seven-cow herd of Mostyn Garrett, Mt. Sterling Route 3, which produced 39 pounds of butterfat and 1054 pounds of milk.

The Jersey herd of H. C. Hines and Sons, Ashville Route 1, was added to the Dairy Herd Improvement Association during January, according to Merle Thomas, Pickaway County associate agent.

Two minutes that made history

The now forgotten orator who spoke for more than two hours at Gettysburg was outshone by Lincoln's immortal address given in about two minutes. Today, in solving our major problems, we could well use more of the patriotism, clarity and directness so ably exemplified by Abraham Lincoln.

Newton, Rejected By Army, Caught In Its Snafu

IN KOREA, Feb. 6—The American consulate in Pusan said today that William Jesse Newton, who hitchhiked to Korea's front lines for enlistment, was aboard an Airforce C-47 legally Monday when he was arrested.

Newton, who made headlines when he strolled into a front line command post last week and said he wanted to "kill as many Communists" as he could, was arrested yesterday in Pusan.

At the time of his arrest he was charged with being a stow-away. The consulate in Pusan said, however, that Newton was armed with a consulate letter authorizing him to leave Korea.

The consulate said the plane had been called back an hour after its takeoff and Newton taken into custody by the provost marshal for a reason the consulate did not know.

He added that Newton called the consulate several times Tuesday and apparently does not know why he is in custody.

Newton was rejected at Eighth Army headquarters Sunday for Army enlistment because he failed to pass the physical requirements. At the time, an Eighth Army spokesman said the Army planned no disciplinary action against the adventurer-flier from Temple City, Calif.

Newton told a front line regimental commander that he was there to kill Communists to "clear my name from the taint of Communism."

The 28-year-old traveller said he reached Korea after hitchhiking 12,000 miles from New York by train, boat and plane.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland received the first parcel post package in this country in 1887. It was a feather fan from Jamaica.
